Course Requirements

1. Attendance and participation. To achieve a thorough understanding of Reformed ecclesiology through interaction with the instructor, the course material and other students, your full involvement during the course is required. Class sessions will consist of lectures and discussions. Students must attend all classes and must attend at least 80% of classes to be eligible for credit, i.e., not more than two absences. Participation is worth 10% of the final grade based on a student participation self-evaluation. The instructor reserves the right to adjust this self-evaluation.

2. Thoughtful and careful completion of the required readings. All students are expected to obtain and/or have access to the course texts and complete the weekly readings. Readings must be done ahead of class; students should be prepared to discuss the readings in class. The total number of pages in the readings for this course is approximately 720 pages, 60 pages per week. Two chapters in the book by Migliore introduce ecclesiology at the beginning of the course. Moltmann provides a contemporary Reformed approach to ecclesiology. Living Faith is the basic statement of Christian belief authorized by The Presbyterian Church in Canada. The Westminster Confession of Faith is an historic doctrinal summary of Reformed theology. Kerr's brief compendium provides essential basic readings from Calvin. The other documents are denominational statements from the PCC. Completion of readings weekly is critical to your learning and your success in the course.

3. In class presentations: all students will present a brief report on one of the following documents and lead a discussion on it in class. The presentation should be a two-page review of the document which includes a summary, key issues, and critical questions. This presentation is worth 10% of the final grade. Topics and dates will be assigned during the first class.

September 18: Moltmann, Chapter I and II

September 25: A comparison of WCF, Chapter 25 and LF, Chapter 7, on the Church

October 2: The Presbyterian Form of Church Government

October 9: Called to Covenant

October 16: The Declaration of Faith Concerning Church and Nation

October 23: Moltmann, Chapter VII

November 6: Together in Ministry

November 13: Confessing the Faith Today

4. Critical reflection papers: Students will submit three critical reflection papers in the first half of the course. These papers are based on the course readings and focus on three primary ecclesial issues. The first paper will be graded as a Pass/Fail and the other two papers will be graded at 20% each for a total of 40% of the course grade. You should write about 800 – 1000 words (4 – 6 pages, double spaced, 12 point-font) for each paper. These papers are not research essays. They are designed to assist you in thinking through important issues as you prepare for ministry.

First Paper: According to the Reformed tradition, as it has been expressed within The Presbyterian Church in Canada, what is the church? In your answer you should make use of the relevant documents. Due: Wednesday, September 25

Second Paper: According to the teaching of the Declaration of Faith Concerning Church and Nation, what are the responsibilities of the church in relation to the state, and what are the limits of the church's authority? Inversely, what are the responsibilities of the state in relation to the church, and what are the limits of the state’s authority? How might this understanding have been applied during the COVID-19 pandemic restrictions? Due: Wednesday, October 23

Third Paper: Based on the preamble and the ordination questions what is the meaning of subscription to the subordinate standards? What does it mean to you to answer the ordination questions in the affirmative? This paper should focus on the two documents: the preamble to – and the ordination questions in the Book of Forms and the PCC document Confessing the Faith. However, it is not intended to be a paper on these documents per se, rather a paper in which you explore and set out your own understanding of what it means to affirm the theological standards of the church. The paper should be 1000 – 1500 words (5– 6 pages double spaced). Due: Wednesday, November 20

4. Major Theological Essay: Students will write a paper on one doctrinal theme in Reformed theology from the second half of the course. This paper is worth 40% of the course grade and should be 2500 – 3000 words (10 – 15 pages) double-spaced and typed, 12-point font. This paper provides an opportunity to explore one theological doctrine in greater depth. Topics are to be chosen from among the list below. Please confirm your topic with the instructor. Due: Wednesday, December 11

(1) Why are people ordained as Ministers of Word and Sacrament in the Presbyterian Church? What is the ministry of the ‘word’ and what is the ministry of the ‘sacraments,’ and what is the meaning of this ministry in the life of the church?

(2) What is baptism and why is it administered to children in Presbyterian churches?

(3) What is the Lord’s Supper and in what sense is Christ present?

(4) What is Jürgen Moltmann’s doctrine of the church as it is expressed in his book The Church in the Power of the Spirit, and how might it be applied in the life and mission of a local Presbyterian congregation?

Course Policies

Handbooks: Policies for courses are contained in the TST Basic Degree Handbook (You can find the TST Basic Degree Handbook at <http://www.tst.edu/content/handbooks>) and the Knox Student Handbook (You can find the content of the Knox College Student Handbook at <https://knox.utoronto.ca/documents>).

Class attendance. Students are expected to conduct themselves in a manner congruent with the vocation they are seeking to enter and in which they desire to give leadership. To that end, it is a regulation of Knox College that a minimum of approximately 80% attendance at courses (10 of 12 weeks) is required for credit; 100% attendance is expected at seminar courses. Habitual lateness for class will be counted as absence.

Teaching and learning are interactive, not passive, activities. Therefore, students may not “attend” an in-person class through unauthorized audio or video streaming or by watching or listening to a recording; instructors are not obligated to record or permitted to stream their in-person classes. Online classes that include a synchronous video component require the same level of attendance as an in-person course, and students may not “attend” by watching or listening to a recording. Online classes that include an asynchronous component require participation in all the activities for each week or module to meet the attendance requirement.

Students requiring accommodations to attend class must present medical and/or Accessibility Services documentation that outlines the type and duration of accommodation(s) required.

Class recording. Much of the learning that goes on in the virtual or in-person classroom is founded upon mutual disclosure that takes place between instructor and student, and between students. Parties outside of this learning community have not committed themselves to this relationship of trust. A student without an approved accommodation who wishes to make an audio recording of an in-person class must secure the agreement of the instructor and all classmates; livestreaming and video recordings are not permitted. Online video-streamed classes may be recorded at the discretion of the instructor. Personal recordings may be used only by the student who made the recording; no recording may be reproduced, posted, or distributed without the written permission of the instructor.

Upload assignments: All assignments are to be uploaded either as .pdf or .docx files onto Quercus.

Late Policy. Basic Degree students are expected to hand in assignments by the date given in the course outline. Please check the Late Policy in the Knox College Student Handbook and the TST Basic Degree Handbook. The absolute deadline for the course is the examination day scheduled for the course or the last day of exam week for the semester in which the course is taught, whichever is sooner. This penalty is not applied to students with documented medical or compassionate difficulties or exceptional reasons (e.g., a death in the family or a serious illness); when facing such difficulties students must consult the instructor immediately.

Completion of Course work: all course work (including any late work) must be completed by the end of term; the due date is the Thursday of examination week. Only in the case of illness (with a note from a doctor), bereavement or other unusual circumstances will an extension be considered, and this must be authorized by the Academic Dean and reported to the Basic Degree Committee and the Faculty of Knox College. Students facing such difficulties are kindly requested to consult with their faculty adviser or basic degree director, who should make a recommendation on the matter to the instructor and request an SDF. The absolute deadline for obtaining an SDF for the course is the examination day scheduled for the course or the last day of examination week, whichever is sooner. An SDF must be requested from the registrar's office in the student's college of registration no later than the last day of exam week in which the course is taken. The SDF, when approved, will have a mutually agreed upon deadline that does not extend beyond the conclusion of the following term. If a student has not completed work but has not been granted an SDF, a final mark will be submitted calculating a zero for work not submitted.

Back-up copies. Please keep back-up copies of all essays that have been submitted online.

Course grades. Consistent with the policy of the University of Toronto, course grades submitted by an instructor are reviewed by a committee of the instructor's college before being posted to ACORN. Grades are not official until they are posted to ACORN. Course grades may be adjusted where they do not comply with University Assessment and Grading Practices Policy found at <https://governingcouncil.utoronto.ca/secretariat/policies/grading-practices-policy-university-assessment-and-january-26-2012>, policies found in the TST conjoint program handbooks, or college grading policy.

Inclusive Language. Knox College has an inclusive language policy, available at https://knox.utoronto.ca/wp-content/uploads/2023/04/Knox-College-Policy_Use-of-Language-Policy-and-Glossary_221003.pdf.

Accessibility. Students with a disability or health consideration, whether temporary or permanent, are entitled to accommodation. Students in conjoint degree programs must register at the University of Toronto's Accessibility Services offices; information is available at <http://www.studentlife.utoronto.ca/as>. The sooner a student seeks accommodation, the quicker we can assist.

Plagiarism. Students submitting written material in courses are expected to provide full documentation for sources of both words and ideas in footnotes or endnotes. Direct quotations should be placed within quotation marks. (If small changes are made in the quotation, they should be indicated by appropriate punctuation such as brackets and ellipses, but the quotation still counts as a direct quotation.) Failure to document borrowed material constitutes plagiarism, which is a serious breach of academic, professional, and Christian ethics. An instructor who discovers evidence of student plagiarism is not permitted to deal with the situation individually but is required to report it to their head of college or delegate according to the Graduate program Handbook linked from <http://www.tst.edu/academic/resources-forms/handbooks> and the University of Toronto Code of Behaviour on Academic Matters <https://governingcouncil.utoronto.ca/secretariat/policies/code-behaviour-academic-matters-july-1-2019>. A student who plagiarizes in this course will be assumed to have read the document "Avoidance of plagiarism in theological writing" published by the Graham Library of Trinity and Wycliffe Colleges: <https://www.trinity.utoronto.ca/library/research/theology/avoiding-plagiarism-in-theological-writing/>

Use of Generative AI, e.g., ChatGPT. With the advent of publicly accessible generative AI (GenAI) tools, U of T has been assessing the technological landscape and updating relevant guidelines and protocols as needed. The University will be collecting and sharing the guidelines and protocols as they become available. Additional resources are regarding GenAI usage by faculty, students, researchers, and staff are posted at <https://ai.utoronto.ca/>.

Other academic offences. TST students come under the jurisdiction of the University of Toronto Code of Behaviour on Academic Matters <https://governingcouncil.utoronto.ca/secretariat/policies/code-behaviour-academic-matters-july-1-2019> .

Obligation to check email. At times, the course instructor may decide to send out important course information by email. To that end, all students in conjoint programs are required to have a valid utoronto email address. Students must have set up their utoronto email address which is entered in the ACORN system. Information is available at www.utorid.utoronto.ca. The course instructor will not be able to help you with this. 416-978-HELP and the Help Desk at the Information Commons can answer questions you may have about your UTORid and password. Students should check utoronto email regularly for messages about the course. Forwarding your utoronto.ca email to a Hotmail, Gmail, Yahoo or other type of email account is not advisable. In some cases, messages from utoronto.ca addresses sent to Hotmail, Gmail or Yahoo accounts are filtered as junk mail, which means that emails from me may end up in your spam or junk mail folder. Students in non-conjoint programs should contact the Registrar of their college of registration.

Email communication with the course instructor. The instructor aims to respond to email communications from students in a timely manner. All email communications from students in conjoint programs must be sent from a utoronto email address. Email communications from other email addresses are not secure, and also the instructor cannot readily identify them as being legitimate emails from students. The instructor is not obliged to respond to email from non-utoronto addresses for students in conjoint programs. Students in non-conjoint programs should only use the email address they have provided to their college of registration.

A note about “trigger” warnings: You are preparing for vocations (congregational ministry, spiritual care, psychotherapy, teaching, research, etc.) that by their nature present you with stimulating situations, including domestic violence, child sexual abuse, effects of addiction, and other very traumatic events. Your vocational preparation anticipates that you will meet such situations in the real world, that you will not be warned about the nature of the stimulus, and that you have to protect a person from your own reaction to situations that may “trigger” a response in you. Your faculty advisor, the registrar’s staff, and the Ecumenical Chaplains can direct you to resources for you to engage in care for your own self. In your studies you will likely not be warned about the kind of “triggering” event that you may encounter.

In this course, if you begin to lose control of your emotions, you may leave with one colleague from the class until you can collect yourself, or you may engage in other practices (journaling, meditation) that allow you to regain control. If you or your colleague are concerned that you cannot regain control or are unduly distressed, you and your colleague should seek assistance from the Knox Registrar’s office. Staff there have access to immediate assistance. In the end, your emotional safety is your own responsibility.

Consultation: Please do not hesitate to consult the Instructor with any questions you have.
